Over 1,000 pages of documents have been unsealed in a lawsuit against Ghislaine Maxwell. These documents are said to reveal the identities of more than 150 individuals connected to the Ghislaine Maxwell vs Virginia Guiffre case, and clients of Jeffrey Epstein.

U.S. District Judge Loretta Preska ruled that there was no legal reason to keep the names of “John and Jane Does” named in the Epstein documents sealed and ordered them to be released and made public as of January 2nd.

The document file can be seen here:

The disclosures will hopefully shine a new light on the sex trafficking network directed by Epstein, and his associate Ghislaine Maxwell. This release comes more than three years after Epstein was allegedly found dead in his New York jail cell in 2019, in what the New York City Office of the Chief Medical Examiner deemed a suicide by hanging.

Rep. Tim Burchett (R, TN-2) tells NewsMax that it's important to see the #EpsteinClientList and not just the Epstein flight logs.

Burchett says those on the client list must be held accountable.

The flight logs, which were already released, only tell part of the tale of the massive sex trafficking ring that political parasites and celebrities participated in. As Congressman Tim Burchett said, “What I want is the client list. Everybody says they’ve gone and had sex on this island, what’s the big deal? No, they haven’t. They’ve done an act of violence against a child. They need to be burned on that. That’s the list we need. They need to be held accountable. I think the (courts) are compromised as well. We need to get to the bottom of it.”

The sad reality is that they took care of the so-called “ring leader” when Epstein “killed himself,” and yet none of those who actually participated in the raping of children have been held accountable.

The names are not all necessarily Epstein's clients but include associates as well as the accused and the accusers. The court delayed the full release until at least January 22nd, 2024 due to a request from a "j. Doe" who is apparently a victim, not a client. Therefore, they are expected to release more information throughout the rest of the month.

As this list rolls in, will the public finally wake up and withdraw its support of the ruling class masters and finally realize they should be living free from force, theft, and coercion?
